

Concept of Sadesati and Dahiya Caused by Saturn

Saturn is a Karmadhipati in Indian Vedic Astrology i.e. it gives results (good/bad) to the native based on his / her karmas. Also known as Kaal, nothing occurs without the wish of Saturn be it birth; marriage; death etc. Saturn is one such planet who controls almost 55-60% of our life span. When Saturn Transits in the 12th house from the Natal Moon (placement of moon in a respective sign in birth chart); Over Natal Moon as well as 2nd house from it. This period / duration is called as "Sadesati @ 7.5 yrs" and it begins & ends @45 Degrees before & after the longitude of the Natal Moon. This period @ 7.5 yrs is divided into 3 phases namely Rising ; Peak & Setting. Saturn generally remains in any sign / rashi @ 2.5 yrs. Similarly , when Saturn transits in the 4th house and 8th houses from the Natal Moon, this period / duration is called as "Dahiya @ 2.5 yrs". Sadesati & Dahiya both are generally considered to be as the watchful periods , however, their respective results varies depending upon several other factors namely Lagna ; Lordships; Placements etc

Natal Moon is in Capricorn sign. This is also called as "Janam Rashi". Suppose Longitude of Moon is 09 Sign Pass 20 degrees (01 Sign pass = 30 degrees) . Thus , Sadesati begins when Saturn Transits in the sign of Sagittarius @ 05 degrees and ends when Saturn Transits in the sign of Pisces @ 05 degrees. This whole duration is called as "Sadesati". Similarly when Saturn transits in the Aries sign or for that instance in the Leo sign causes "Dahiya" because these signs are 4th & 8th from the Natal Moon (Capricorn Sign)
